DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

Species 1 – a fuel cartridge comprising a housing, a fuel egress port and a heating element disposed in thermal communication with an interior portion of the housing

Species 2 – a fuel cartridge comprising a housing, a fuel egress port, a fuel storage bladder and a piston urged against the bladder

Species 3 – a fuel cartridge comprising a housing, a fuel egress port, with a piston urged against a vaporization membrane

Species 4 – a fuel cartridge comprising an inner housing with an opening that has a vaporization membrane disposed across the opening, a piston urged against the vaporization membrane and an outer housing disposed around at least a portion of the inner housing

If applicants elect species 1, then applicants must further elect one subspecies from each of the following:

Subspecies 1a – one species for the surface area enhanced planar vaporization membrane selected from: a composite membrane comprised of multiple layers or folds of a polymer membrane, a membrane arranged as a series of folds or a polymer membrane provided with macroscopically irregular and/or microscopically roughened membrane surfaces

Subspecies 2a – one subspecies for the heating element selected from: a wire disposed in thermal communication with the interior of the cartridge, disposed in the interior of the cartridge or in the interior of the cartridge and spaces a vapor portion of the cartridge from a liquid reservoir or the cartridge

The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, there are no generic claims.

There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.

In light of the complexity of the restriction requirement for this application, no telephone communication regarding the restriction has been made. See MPEP § 812.01.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
